NAZIS FACE CHAOS AS REDS SURGE ON

Meandering
Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

While walking along the Main Stem Saturday, I was hailed by Mack Sauer. You know Mack, or at least have heard of him. Do you remember a few years ago while he was editor of the Leesburg Citizen, he offered $10,000 reward for the first quintuplets born within five miles of Leesburg? The whole community was agog, but nothing happened. Mack knew nothing could happen, and that's the reason he was so generous with his reward.

However, Mack quit the little town newspaper game and has been devoting most of his time to speaking throughout eastern United States. He has been going over big.

He is a real humorist and mixes enough humor with some good, sound "horse sense" that never fails to entertain and instruct his hearers.

Saturday morning Mack was just returning home from a week's speaking tour in the east. He is much in demand before Rotary clubs, and during the past week was the speaker before the following Rotary clubs: Monday, Wooster; Tuesday, Uniontown, Pa.; Wednesday, Wilmington, Del.; Thursday, Pottstown, Pa.; and Friday, Minerva, Ohio.

The previous week he addressed the Rotary clubs at Alton and Quincy, Ill., in addition to another place or two.

This week one of his engagements is at Canton, where he will address the famous Welsheimer Men's Bible Class and a Methodist Brotherhood meeting.

A short time ago he spoke before the Catholic Men's Club in Canton, where the banquet (Mack says it was the finest he ever attended) cost all but the speaker $7.50 per plate.

Go to it, Mack! You've got a good line and may your success ever be unbounded.

S-Sgt. H. E. Thomas, son of Mrs. Ethel Thomas, 123 South North Street, was in a particularly ecstatic mood when he wrote one of his last V-mails to his mother.

He had met a home-town boy, Sgt. George (Bud) Naylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen J. Naylor, in London. And, although space is cramped in a V-mail, he used most of it describing the wonderful feeling both boys had. "We were thrilled to death," he wrote.

The two air corpsmen discovered they were stationed at camps "not 20 miles apart" and spent most of the day together. They climaxed the whole thing by seeing General Eisenhower broadcast—but lost each other in the crowd there.

Sgt. Thomas is a supply man in the air corps. Sgt. Naylor is an aerial radio gunner and wears the air medal with three oak leaf clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

LONERGAN TRIAL STARTS ALL OVER

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—Trial of Wayne Lonergan, for the bludgeoning of his wife, Patricia, 23-year-old heiress, started again today with a new judge on the bench and a fresh panel of 300 special talesmen jammed into the small general sessions courtroom.

Judge John J. Freschi, who presided at the stormy first session which ended Feb. 25, had expressed hope he would not have to serve again and the trial was resumed before Judge James Garrett Wallace.

The 26-year-old defendant was described by his attorney, Edward V. Broderick, as being in "pretty good spirits" and eager for the trial to get underway.

STRIKE CALLED VICTORY AGAINST NAZIS IN ITALY

NAPLES, March 20.—(AP)—The Socialist newspaper Avanti declared today a strike of thousands of industrial workers in German-held northern Italy a week ago was "a victory in the first truly great mass movement in Europe against Nazism."

SERVICE VOTING ISSUE HEADING FOR SHOWDOWN

President's Query Answered By 42 Governors - - Trend Toward State Ballots

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Forty-two governors have replied to President Roosevelt's query about service voting and the trend of their opinion appears to be that state ballots distributed under the federal machinery would give a vote to most service men and women.

Virtually all the governors emphasized that their states want the fighting forces to vote. Many expressed belief state ballots are adequate if the government will get them overseas.

Mr. Roosevelt had inquired whether the states would accept federal ballot and has left no doubt his decision to accept or veto the federal ballot measure would hinge on whether more service personnel would vote under it than the 1942 law which merely waived state registration and poll tax requirements, leaving absentee balloting entirely to the states.

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio said his state plans to liberalize Ohio laws so as to provide for full state absentee ballot privileges as well as federal.

The federal ballot bill would facilitate state absentee balloting but would make a federal ballot available for overseas military personnel if they asked for and did not receive a state ballot.

New Tax Bill
The new "streamlined" tax bill, freeing about 30,000,000 from the necessity of filing tax returns has been generally acclaimed but came in for at least one adverse criticism today. Rep. Curtis (R-Neb.) says a provision allowing every taxpayer a deduction of 10 percent of income subject to withholding taxes, to offset usual allowances for contributing to charity, is "immoral." "It is fundamentally wrong," he says, "to treat givers and non-givers alike."

WORST YET TO COME FROM RADIO BOMBS

That's Inventor's Prediction For New Nazi Weapon

BOSTON, March 20.—(AP)—John Hays Hammond, Jr., internationally known inventor and holder of patents on radio-controlled bombs similar to those being used by the Germans, was quoted today by the Boston Traveler as saying he believed the Nazis have only been practicing with the projectiles and that their full force would be felt later.

"My feeling is," the paper quoted Hammond as saying, in an article approved by the Office of Censorship, "that perfection of this device by Germany would imperil the British fleet. The fleet versus glider bombs could be the next phase of this war—it could be glider bombs against the combined Allied fleets."

"No shipping will be safe if the Germans perfect this type of warfare, excepting those ships which can stay out of reach."

Yugoslavia's King Weds Pretty Greek Princess

LONDON, March 20.—(AP)—Twenty-year-old King Peter of Yugoslavia and pretty Princess Alexandra of Greece, 23, were married at 4 P. M. today in the Yugoslav legation in a private ceremony before a small number of guests.

Non-Stop Air War Smashing Germany In Two-Way Attack

Reports Indicate 300 More Nazi Fighter Planes Knocked Out While Allied Losses Steadily Diminish - - Bombers Fly from U. S. Factories in Ten Days

LONDON, March 20.—(AP)—American bombers, carrying forward the non-stop Allied aerial offensive against Adolf Hitler's continental fortress already battered by 20,000 tons of bombs in six days, struck targets in southwest Germany today.

The attacking fleet, described officially as of medium size—probably 250 to 500 bombers—dumped American bombs on the Reich homeland for the fourth time in the six-day, two-way offensive.

The heavy bombers were escorted by strong forces of Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustang fighters of both the Eighth and Ninth U. S. Air Forces.

Returning fighter pilots said the American attackers flew through bad weather and encountered spot-by-spot opposition from German planes.

Of the planes which went out from one fighter base a squadron commanded by Maj. James A. Stewart, Coronado, Calif., was the only one which engaged enemy interceptors.

"At times the weather was the worst I ever have seen," said Stewart, who bagged two German planes to bring his total to 12. There were a few soft spots but not many."

EX-WAVE IS CLEARED OF KIDNAP CHARGE

Free To Marry Man Like 'Charlotte's Father'

CROYDON, Pa., March 20.—(AP)—Twenty-two year old Edith Toy awaited freedom—and marriage—today, apparently cleared of a kidnapping charge in the disappearance of Charlotte Susan Garon, four, from her Bucks County home.

"Maybe I'll get married after all," the former WAVE smiled after Anthony Russo, chief of County detectives, said the charge would be withdrawn because "this is no case of kidnapping at all."

Miss Toy was arrested Saturday at Camden, N. J., after the little girl was found in her custody.

She wouldn't talk about her intended husband except to say, "He's a sailor—like little Charlotte's father."

Russo said Miss Toy took Charlotte for "a little visit" with full permission of the child's mother, Mrs. Sofia Garon, 28, who had met Miss Toy on a train but didn't know her name.

COMPLETE BALLOT FOR SERVICE VOTE IS BRICKER'S PLAN

Legislature Won't Be Asked To Approve Federal Ballot

COLUMBUS, March 20.—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker said today he would insist that the forthcoming special session of the legislature offer Ohioans in the armed services a ballot embodying Federal, State and local candidates.

He did not intend, Bricker told his press conference, to ask that the assembly legalize a Congress-approved ballot "under conditions set forth in the Federal bill."

"It would be unnecessary and further confuse the voting," the governor said. "I want the soldier to have an opportunity to vote the same ballot and for the same candidates as the people at home."

Bricker informed President Roosevelt Saturday that the Federal ballot, upon which Mr. Roosevelt asked for opinion from all governors, could not legally be used in Ohio and added he was convening the legislature so that Ohio law "with respect to soldier voting may be further liberalized so that ballots will be available for distribution under the provisions" of the Federal bill.

PLANE MAKES LANDING AT WHEELING RACE TRACK

WHEELING, W. Va., March 20.—(AP)—A private airplane made a forced landing yesterday on the parking lot at the Wheeling Downs race track but Lieut. J. M. York of Fort Benning, Ga., and his son, Milford York, 19, the occupants, were not hurt.

The Yorks were en route south after visiting in Warren, Ohio. The landing was made in a heavy snowstorm. One wing of the plane was torn off.

Allies Now Hold Two More Airdromes and Massive Harbor For Stab at Truk—Enemy Troops Face Starvation

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ

(By the Associated Press)

Twenty-one days after it started, the conquest of the Admiralty Islands is over and the Allies now hold two new airdromes and a massive harbor less than 800 miles from Japan's key Pacific base at Truk and 1300 miles from the Philippine Islands.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur communicated today the enemy has been driven from Lorengau, main Japanese base in the Admiralties, and there is "nothing left that is worth defending," a headquarters spokesman added.

Since dismounted cavalry units started the invasion February 29, Momote airdrome on Los Negros Island was captured, Big Seadler harbor, possibly capable of containing the entire U. S. battle fleet, was secured and finally Lorengau airdrome and township were won.

Vanquished enemy troops remain in the Admiralties but face starvation or ultimate destruction by the Americans who hold all the strategically valuable positions and can cut off most Japanese escape attempts.

Fall of the Admiralties puts additional terror in the hearts of Japanese defenders of Wewak, main Japanese air and supply base in northern New Guinea. Allied planes based in the Admiralties can put an additional clamp on the blockade of Wewak. For eight consecutive days,

War Workers' Bus Plunges into River; 30 Are Feared Lost

Seven Are Rescued as Liferrafts Being Made for War Tossed Out Factory Windows - - Bodies Floating Inside, Says Man Who Dives In To Attempt To Save Victims

PASSAIC, N. J., March 20.—(AP)—A bus plunged from a bridge into the Passaic River channel today with a death toll still variously estimated from eight to 30 persons hours later.

Only seven persons were rescued and one of these died in a hospital. The bodies of two women were recovered, making a known death toll of three.

Stanley Raymond, 35, told from his hospital bed of swimming among corpses inside the bus and finally making his way out the emergency rear door, which had flown open as the bus crashed through the bridge railing and dropped 15 feet into the icy stream.

Virtually every seat was occupied and there were a few standees, Raymond said.

Other survivors estimated the death toll from eight to 30 as authorities awaited arrival of a derrick barge to lift the heavy death toll of three.

PUCHEU EXECUTED BY FIRING SQUAD

Former Vichy Official Is Convicted of Treason

By JOSEPH DYNAN
ALGIERS, March 20.—(AP)—Pierre Pucheu, former minister of interior in the Vichy government, crumpled in death at dawn today before a firing squad which the condemned man himself commanded to fire.

He was convicted of treason a week ago and Gen. Charles De Gaulle, head of the French Committee of National Liberation, said he was unable to alter the death sentence. Pucheu was allowed to command his own firing squad as a last request.

A representative of the court, two attorneys, a chaplain and the special prosecutor, Gen. Pierre Weiss, witnessed the execution. Pucheu spurned a bandage for his eyes and stood steadfastly and intently staring at the firing squad as he shouted these fateful orders: "Ready. . . Aim. . . Fire!"

BOYS FROM OHIO SLAUGHTER JAPS IN BOUGAINVILLE SUICIDE ATTACK

BOUGAINVILLE, SOLOMON ISLANDS, March 16.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Ohio's 37th Division has "avenged the rape of Nanking," wiping out hundreds of Japanese in some of the bloodiest fighting of the war, its commander, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, said today.

General Beightler of Columbus, termed the battle for Hill 700 the most vicious fighting he had seen in two years. More than 500 Jap bodies were counted along the barbed wire entanglements after the American victory.

He told of four attacks on the defense perimeter held by the 37th and how they were repulsed during the past week. It was here he said the vengeance for Nanking was achieved, since the at-

CASSINO BATTLE STILL RAGING IN SPITE OF BOMBS

Time Is Ripe for Invasion, Russia's Pravda Says, as Troops Near Balkans

By RICHARD McMURRAY

(By the Associated Press)

Marshal Stalin announced today that the Russians had captured Mogilev Podolski on the Dniester River Sunday, and Moscow dispatches said the Red army had plunged through old Rumania to within sight of the Carpathian mountains.

Yet another massive defeat of the German armies staggering out of the Ukraine was announced by the Nazi command, which said the important base and railway city of Vinnitsa had been evacuated.

Mogilev Podolski is a major crossing point on the Dniester where the Germans had been expected to try a stand. Moscow said, however, the retreat had become so precipitous that the Red army had established a 31-mile bridgehead on the wide and meandering river and that the Germans had not had time to destroy the bridges.

Mogilev Podolski lies about 250 miles north and slightly east of the Ploesti oil fields, essential to Hitler's war machines. On the whole 500-mile front from the Black Sea base of Nikolaev to deep inside old Poland, the Red army was grinding forward steadily and swiftly in black seas of mud tinted with German blood.

Russia's Pravda said the Germans were driven to the verge of chaos, and that the time was ripe for decisive blows "from the east, west and south"—meaning an Allied invasion of Europe.

Soviet forces face the immediate objective of clearing the Germans out of the Ukraine, the three Ukrainian armies wheeling in a southwesterly direction along a 500-mile front from the high hills of the western Ukraine to the coast of the Black Sea, gradually folding back the entire German force in southern Russia.

Hitler's communique announced the evacuation of Vinnitsa, an important German base and rail city of the western Ukraine.

A dispatch to Pravda said rough terrain which abounds with forests, swamps, streams and hills, together with spring floods had created "unheard of difficulties" for an advance, but that swift flank attacks were overcoming one enemy base after another.

TWO DIE AS TRUCK FALLS FROM BRIDGE INTO RIVER

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 20.—(AP)—Thomas Calvin Rayburn, 22, of 1420 Eleventh Street, Portsmouth, O., drowned here Saturday night when the truck-trailer in which he was riding plunged over the Adamson-Point Comfort bridge into West Fork River.

Rayburn leaped from the vehicle as it hit the concrete railing surrounding the bridge but was unable to save himself.

The body of the driver, James Connor, 29, of Columbus, O., was found lodged in the water-covered cab.

MADELINE CARROLL IN ITALY WITH RED CROSS

NAPLES, March 20.—(AP)—Madeline Carroll, who used to spend some of her vacations from Hollywood in a villa at Lake Como, has returned to Italy in an American Red Cross uniform to work in army hospitals.

Miss Carroll said she hoped to be assigned as a staff aide to evacuation hospitals.

DEMOCRATS ARE PREPARING FOR MEETING HERE

Reception at Washington Hotel Will Be Highlight Of Party Session

Democratic leaders here today are preparing for a meeting Wednesday night to launch the forthcoming primary campaign in Fayette County.

One of the highlights of the affair, which is to be held at the Washington Hotel, starting at 8 P. M., will be a reception and get-acquainted gathering. Whether there will be any refreshments, was still an undecided question.

Reed M. Winegardner, chairman of the county executive committee and candidate for his party's nomination for lieutenant governor, is to be in charge of the meeting.

Among Democratic notables from out of town expected here are William G. Pickrel, a candidate for the senatorial nomination, and Frazier Reams, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

The chairman said special emphasis was being laid on the importance of attendance by all members of the party's county central committee. However, it was made plain that the affair was to be open to the public and leaders expressed the hope that people here would avail themselves of the opportunity to meet personally Reams and Pickrel and other candidates who are expected to come.

The Wednesday meeting, which may begin with a dinner, is the second Democratic meeting held in Fayette County this year. The first, in Memorial Hall, was the "kick-off" party session for this district and was attended by candidates for state offices and prominent Democrats throughout the state.

Democratic candidates for county offices are W. H. Icenhower, for sheriff and Willis E. McCoy (incumbent) for treasurer; J. J. Burris and Reed M. Winegardner for delegates to the convention and V. J. Kruse and E. A. Elies for alternate delegates.

FRANK LAYMON DIES IN NEW VIENNA HOME

Father of Harold Laymon, Washington C. H. Man

Frank W. Laymon, 62, father of Harold Laymon, Columbus Avenue, died Sunday morning at his home in New Vienna. He had lived in and near New Vienna all his life.

He is survived by two sons, Harold, here, and Burch, of New Vienna; one daughter, Mrs. Dale McDonald of New Vienna; one brother, William Laymon of Wilmington; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Cantrill of Baltimore, Md., and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 3 P. M. at the Davis Funeral Home in New Vienna. Rev. F. H. Smith will be in charge of the services. Burial will be in the New Vienna IOOF cemetery.

Friends may call at the residence from 2 P. M. Tuesday until noon Wednesday.

red carpet across the sidewalk, while another hoisted the flag of Peter's troubled land. Huge candles used in the Greek Orthodox service were taken into the legation early in the day.

King Peter arrived at the legation 20 minutes after his bride, wearing the light blue uniform of the Yugoslav air force.

Peter's brothers, Prince Tomislav, in a Yugoslav naval midshipman's uniform and Prince Andrei, who still attends school, came with the young king.

The ceremony was performed by Archbishop Ristanovitch of the Serbian church and Archbishop Germanos of the Greek church.

Princess Aspasia, mother of the bride, wore a blue costume. Queen Mother Marie of Yugoslavia was not present.

King George of Greece, King Haakon of Norway, the Duke of Gloucester, the Duchess of Kent, Queen Wilhelmina and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands were among the guests.

King George VI of Britain, who is godfather to King Peter, witnessed the marriage declaration.

King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were among those who witnessed the 25-minute service conducted in three languages—Greek, Serbian and English.

The air-cooled radial engine, which contributed much to the development of aviation, actually was invented before the first airplane in 1902 by Charles W. Manly.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There would seem to be close connection between the rapidity with which Hitler's tribulations are mounting and the report in London's diplomatic quarters that Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill may meet again soon.

The European war is moving mightily fast, and it's gain momentum. What with the blood-letting being inflicted on the Germans by the tireless Red armies, and the Hell that's being poured into Hitlerland by the Anglo-American air forces, we stand at a moment when great events can happen without warning.

It's reasonable, therefore, that the Big Three should want to check up with one another and (perhaps) on one another. This is the crucial time when each of the trio must know exactly what's in the minds of the others—when none can afford to fall out of step.

We are approaching big new problems which the three, with their expert advisers, may be able to deal with best in a face-to-face meeting. Both military and international political questions are piling up, and of these the political are probably the more troublesome.

Now of course this is no time to start a victory parade up Broadway. We've got bloody work ahead of us. Still, the Allies must make plans for eventualities well in advance of the events. One thing they've got to know is exactly what happens when Hitler yells "kamerad," as yells he will in due course. Just how is the Reich going to be dealt with, and what part is each Ally to play? Europe's future may depend on that.

However, the Red armies aren't at the German border yet, by a long shot, although Hitler's right wing in Southern Russia is being so ripped to pieces that he is suffering one of his worst defeats of the war. Momentous events could develop from this situation, but caution warns us to take things as they come and not outrun the battle in wishful thinking.

The big news as this is written is that the onrushing Red forces are actually in Rumania, having crossed the great Dniester River and smashed through the German defenses on a front of more than thirty miles. The Muscovites thus have performed the "impossible," and have given us a stark picture of Red striking-power and Nazi waning strength.

Prussian Field Marshal Von Manstein's supposedly strong defenses on the Bug River have been broken like a rotten string. His once famous Sixth Army has been split into several segments and is in much straits that the Communist newspaper Pravda declares it's "on the verge of catastrophe." The Germans are reported to be in full flight in many places and to be suffering terrific losses, both in men and in material.

The Red forces are straining every nerve to take advantage of the Nazi collapse. As this column previously has pointed out, the unknown factor is the unseasonably early spring weather which threatens to bog down military operations. Hitler might get a respite from the lakes of mud.

Still, the Russians will have gone far towards achieving their goal of clearing the Nazis out of the Ukraine so that its rich soil may be cultivated. The Soviet badly needs the food which could be produced there.

Tension in the Balkans, especially in Rumania, has intensified as Red troops push into Bessarabia. The British radio is bombarding the panicky Rumanians with warnings to desert the Axis before it's too late.

Meanwhile Berlin reports that the Russians appear to be getting set for another drive against the Baltic states. That wouldn't be surprising, especially in view of the Finnish situation. If the Finns don't accept the armistice terms, they likely will be pushed over the precipice.

CENTER STRIPE ON HIGHWAYS WILL BE WHITE

Clermont County Solon Is Largely Responsible For the Change

Motorists generally will welcome the news that the State Highway Department will use white paint for the center line on all highways, instead of the black line on concrete highways as has been the custom heretofore.

Change to the white center line was largely brought about by the work over a period of years, of Representative John J. Hayden, of Clermont County, who has been waging a constant battle to bring about the change.

Hayden has said the line should be white but found the highway department committed to old ways and unwilling to concede to his arguments. Hayden insisted that under certain atmospheric and weather conditions, the black line was not clear and would not help drivers. The white line, he insisted, has much higher visibility.

Recently a new study of the question was made by highway department engineers and they finally concluded that Hayden had the right idea. In a discussion with him, they said that they have decided to accept his conclusions.

There may be delay putting the oriented system into effect, it was explained. The allotment necessary to reline Ohio highways was calculated at 80,000 gallons. The department has been able to lay its hands on 25,000 gallons, and it is doubtful if the quota can be filled.

Thus the old black line may be retained for a time. Hayden said that he regards the victory as a big one for drivers and a big step in accident prevention. As chairman of the Highway Committee, Hayden has been active in all phases of the transportation question. Recently he was assured of a new term in the General Assembly without opposition in his own party, the Republican, or from Democrats.

A great many Fayette County motorists have called attention to the fact that the black line for night driving, during rainy or foggy weather, is far less discernible than white lines, and have wondered why the Highway Department did not change the painting from black to white.

LITTLE CHATS ON "URLIC" NOTICES

Personal Yet Public

Laymen are apt to be puzzled over seeming legal contradictions. This is not surprising considering how judges and attorneys often disagree. Occasionally the contradictions may be real but often they can be reconciled.

Some kinds of Public Notice might seem to present this sort of difficulty. They may pertain, for example, to the closing of an estate or the appointment of a guardian or administrator. In each of these a matter which is essentially personal is involved.

But this is not all. It is equally necessary to give publicity to such affairs. What is personal cannot always be kept private. It is in the public interest to inform ALL parties concerned by publishing the type of notice prescribed by law. The layman does not always see the reason for what he calls "red tape," but the reason is there. Each kind of Public Notice grew out of some need to safeguard the rights of others to make public the essential information pertinent thereto.

This is the first picture to be released of the quintuplets reported born last July to Senor and Senora Franco Diligenti in Buenos Aires. Three girls and two boys, the babies left to right are Carlos Alberto, Maria Esther, Marie Fernanda, Maria Christina and Franco. Up to now the father withheld knowledge of the multiple birth, seeking to avoid the publicity the family received when triplets, two of whom died, were born about three years ago. Picture was radioed from Buenos Aires. (International Soundphoto).

Mrs. Belle Thompson

"In His Service" Class Meeting

The quarterly meeting of "In His Service" class of the Jeffersonville Methodist Church was held on Friday at the home of Mrs. Caroline Spargur. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Gertrude Spengler, Mrs. Frances Walls, Mrs. Helen Coit, Mrs. Bess Wright, Mrs. Lillie Moots, Mrs. Grace Lanum, Mrs. Hazel DeLaRue and Miss Icy Allen. A most tempting potluck dinner was served at the noon hour. St. Patrick suggestions being carried out in the appointments.

In the afternoon, the president, Mrs. Juanita Barlett, opened the business meeting by reading an article on "Keeping Step With Nature." Mrs. Grace Lanum conducted impressive devotionals. Mrs. Mary M. Ervin, scholarship chairman, read a most interesting letter from Mr. and Mrs. Wood Whetstone, who are in charge of the Clancy High School at Muttara, India, where the class has a scholarship which educates a boy who is selected to attend the school. In this letter the Whetstones tell that the main food of Indians is the chappatti, a leathery pancake-like bread made of whole wheat and what a difficult time they have of obtaining any wheat. While attending school, the boys live in Hostels, there being about 90 boys there. There is more demand all the time from the Christian Indians to educate their children in these Mission Schools, there being separate schools for boys and girls. There is a great need at this time for more scholarships. The Whetstones also tell of meeting U. S. Army fellows stationed in India and how much they were impressed with the work being done in the schools when they visited them. The Whetstones have a son, Barry, who was a year old in August and they tell how difficult it is to keep everything sanitary for the child, all dishes having to be boiled and the food so carefully prepared. The class at different times, receive personal letters from the boys whose scholarship they have been paying and how thankful they are for their education, which means so much to them.

The class voted to give $10 to the local Red Cross.

Mrs. Margaret Allen was accepted as a new member.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Walls entertained with St. Patrick contests.

Birthday Party
Mrs. Ray Barlett entertained on Wednesday evening with a party honoring the 16th birthday of her daughter, Betty Lou. The young people attended the Jeffersonville Theatre, then returned to the Barlett home on Main Street, where they enjoyed bingo and social time.

The guests were seated at small tables, birthday appointments being carried out in the decorations, where they were served tempting refreshments.

Miss Barlett received many lovely gifts for which she most graciously thanked the guests.

Those in attendance were Fern and Erma Wilt, Virginia and Elizabeth Sears, Ruth Elinor and Lois Wiseman, Lois Ervin, Rosalie Dill, Sara Eva Shoemaker, Mary Elizabeth French, Mary Ellen Ray, Eloise Allen, Norma Jean Will, Annalea Houseman and the honoree guest, Betty Lou Barlett.

Home Soil

Nationalism, after all, is rooted in the soil. It is buttressed by love of home. It is the sentiment which attaches to one's native land. That it can be eliminated, and that internationalism can be substituted for it, is a mere dream. In fact, internationalism, the feeling on the part of men of all races, nations, and lands that the world is a larger home and that mankind constitutes a family, must rest upon nationalism as its only secure foundation. Men must love their own countries and their own heritage of culture and tradition before they can learn to love the world and the race.

The countries of Europe, those occupied and those fighting Germany, all alike are becoming more, rather than less, nationalistic as the war progresses and the sufferings imposed become greater. Love of country is driving deeper roots into the soil. A brief passage in an article on General Charles de Gaulle by Sonia Tomara, illustrates this. She says that one student of his character has said that in him "is the very heaviness of the earth of France. He is linked with it, and nothing gives him more pleasure than to receive from his adherents in France little packets of French soil."

This is eloquent of the feeling of all Frenchmen. It is even more eloquent of the feeling of Russians for the soil of their land. It suggests the way in which the Poles, the Czechs, the Hungarians, the Rumanians, the Greeks and all the peoples of Europe feel.

Nationalism after the war will be a more powerful force than ever. It has to be taken into account. Attempts to move people about, to change boundaries, to shift minorities, to alter the geography of Europe will only serve to stimulate irredentism, factionalism, and strife. The people of all countries have in them the "heaviness of the soil" that gave them birth and has nourished them.

Reconversion and Government

Governmental agencies urge American industry to speed plans for reconversion to peacetime output. It is warned that the end of hostilities will force the United States to make a choice between a capitalistic system of free enterprise and maximum production, a totalitarian regime dominated by centralized governmental planning for industry and individuals, or a system of managed economy in which cartels would fix prices and regulate production without government control. The latter two would destroy the freedom of the individual in this country.

Continuance of the capitalistic system will not rest alone upon the ability of industry to reconvert speedily to peace production. It will rest also upon the ability and willingness of public officials to effect speedy reconversion from the existing semi-dictatorial government of war to representative government of pre-war days.

There are too many inferences spread today that wartime regulations will have to be continued for an indefinite period after the war—especially the price and

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The appointment of William L. Clayton as surplus war property administrator is more evidence of how much the New Deal has changed and how far the Administration is going in its efforts to win the confidence of business.
The administrator of surplus war property will have the biggest single selling job this world has ever seen. Under his direction, the government will dispose of not only its unneeded surplus arms, ammunition, jeeps, trucks and the thousand-and-one trappings of modern war, but also plants, lands, foodstuffs, ships and planes.
And all of this must be done without dumping on either world or local markets in such a way that it will upset the economic system or retard its return to normalcy.
To have appointed to this job not only an anti-New Dealer, but a man who has been outspoken in criticism of New Deal policies from the first, even to the extent of joining forces with the Liberty League in 1936, would have been unthinkable a few years ago. But that's just what has happened.

Although Clayton has been around Washington since 1940, when he severed relations with his vast cotton company to become a right hand man to Jesse Jones, with the title of deputy administrator of the Federal Loan Agency, he had not been conspicuous until his elevation to this biggest of the postwar tasks.
"Will" Clayton has one of those life stories that the successful writers love to dawdle over. He was born on a Mississippi cotton farm and had to leave school at the eighth grade. His schooling after that consisted of mastering stenography, working for a cotton broker, and doing well enough to launch out on his own at 24 and start what was to become the world's largest cotton company. What the big oil, banking and industrial empires of the east were to their respective fields, the Anderson, Clayton Cotton Co. became to the realm of cotton.

Those operations naturally gave him knowledge of world trade perhaps greater than any man who has come into the government, for cotton is bought and sold the world over. They also have brought him some enemies, but it's safe to say not many who have stayed enemies long after meeting him. Mr. Clayton, tall, handsome, with thinning white hair parted in the middle, has an affable, magnetic personality that makes friends and begets loyalty.
Just how much Jesse Jones had to do with getting his fellow Houstonian to come to Washington in the first place isn't certain but it is believed considerable. His appointment to organize the great task before SWPA is proof that regardless of disagreements with New Deal economic and social programs, he has earned the entire confidence of the Administration.

Flashes of Life

'Shot' Speeds Growth of Hothouse Tomato
MADISON, Wis.—Give hothouse tomato plant a shot in the blossom and it produces earlier and more often. In the University of Wisconsin greenhouses, R. H. Roberts and Esther Struckmeyer experimented with various chemicals and found betanaphthoxy acetic acid when sprayed on the clusters of tomato blossoms made them bear fruit faster.

Called BNA, this acid is available in commercial quantities for greenhouse operators, who now can plant earlier, obtain larger yields and get the crop in before field-grown tomatoes begin flooding the market. One spraying, they say, is sufficient.

Powder Pioneers Hit the Road

NASHVILLE—An invention outmoded by modern safety precautions was salvaged for scrap metal from the Sycamore Powder plant near Ashland City, Tenn., which produced explosives from 1834 to 1904.

W. C. Jackson, son of a former superintendent of the mill, said that explosions on the powder line occurred so frequently that roofs were made in two hinged sections. When there was an explosion, the roof sections could be folded back into place.

One-Minute Test

1. Which U. S. president was the taller, George Washington or Abraham Lincoln?
2. You know the tall clocks that are called "grandfather clocks," what is a "grandmother clock"?
3. Where does the body of John Paul Jones, famous American naval hero, now rest?

Words of Wisdom

Assertion is not argument; to contradict the statement of an opponent is not proof that you are correct.—Johnson.

Hints on Etiquette

If an adult called your attention to something in which he was interested, you would stop whatever you were doing and listen or look. Show your child the same courtesy.

Today's Horoscope

If today is your birthday, you are studious, intellectual and a logical thinker. You are fond of travel and gaiety, and a retrospective tendency makes your pleasures and observations permanent. You will love deeply, work diligently, and play with child-like abandon. In the next year much good fortune and happiness will come your way. Do not hesitate to expand business or accept promotion. Employ your originality and go ahead. The child born on this date will be remarkable in many ways, exceptionally gifted, very far-seeing, highly intellectual, popular and most successful.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. Abraham Lincoln, who was 6 feet 4 inches; George Washington was 6 feet 2 inches tall.
2. Grandmother clocks are small grandfather clocks.
3. In a chapel built in his honor on the grounds of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis.

rationing controls currently governing the distribution system. As long as restrictions on distribution are maintained, it is idle to talk of full production. Maximum production cannot be attained until distribution is freed of wartime regulations that curb competition and restrict the operating efficiency of the men who must finally put the luxuries and necessities produced by industry into the hands of consumers—the nation's retail merchants.

If there is to be the prosperous peace desired by all, it must begin with the reconversion plans for government itself. The nation is waiting anxiously to see those plans.

Possibly it means that we are hard-hearted and unsympathetic but up to this time we have not shed any tears or worried and became despondent over the trials and tribulations of persons who have spent the winter in Florida.

As long as we can remember we have been told that news was the record of something unusual, but this can't be true as all the daily papers carried stories that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt had left on another trip.

Doctor Approves Marie Curie Movie

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

ON THE same day that I saw the moving picture "Mme. Curie" I received from a London bookseller a paper pamphlet containing the review of the Academy of Sciences of Paris of July 18, 1898.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

One review was "SUR UNE SUBSTANCE NOUVELLE RADIO-ACTIVE," by P. Curie and Mme. S. Curie, presented by M. Becquerel. It is the first announcement of the researches which led to the discovery of radium. This epoch-making announcement covers barely two pages of print.

I ask me whether "Mme. Curie" is a good movie. It is far more than that—it is a noble work of art. It lifts the outlook out of the selfish and degrading conflicts of the world around us into the rarefied idealism of science. "The man who discovered that geometrical design," says the Professor Perrin, of the picture, to the class of which Mme. Curie is a member, "accomplished at the moment of discovery a feat of the imagination far surpassing that of any poet. To each one of you, too, science gives the opportunity to reach out and hold a star in your fingers."

Thrilling Problem

To me it is astonishing and encouraging that this picture can make the plot and all the suspense hinge upon the working out of a scientific problem and yet be so thrilling to an average audience. The love story of the Curies is present, or it wouldn't be a movie, but subordinated to the scientific problem of finding what substance there is in pitchblende which gives out so much electrical emanation. And it is worked out so that the minds of the movie audience follow it by what is known in scientific logic as the Canon of Residues. By a process of elimination the Curies prove that it must be in that one-millionth of one per cent of "extraneous matter."

It is a remarkably accurate narrative also. I have followed its events in Marie Curie's life of her husband "PIERRE CURIE" and her own autobiography, and find scarcely any deviation from the actualities of their lives. Of course the Curies were very fortunate people. They were caught up early in life by a quest—an adventure of the mind and spirit. It surrounded their existence like an aura, far different from the humdrum routine of ordinary mortals.

Becquerel Discoveries

Henri Becquerel does not get quite as much credit in the movie version as he should. It was his discoveries and ideas that really started them off—when he proved pitchblende is radio-active. And later it was Becquerel who discovered the only practical application of radium—its destructiveness to human tissue, including cancer. "Henri Becquerel," wrote Mme. Curie, "had by accident a similar burn as a result of carrying in his vest pocket a glass tube containing radium salt. He came to tell us of this evil effect of radium exclaiming in a manner at once delighted and annoyed."

"I love it, but I owe it a grudge." "Too much is made perhaps of the sadness of Pierre Curie's death. He had lived to see his work completed and recognized by the award of the Nobel Prize in 1905. Death is not a tragedy to those who have gazed so steadfastly and faithfully on Nature that she has revealed even an infinitesimal part of her workings."

A Model is Murdered - BABS LEE

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

"Hello, Mr. Sturgis!" Ellen greeted him, coming forward. "Don't mind Bill Carstairs. He's a wee bit on the full side. Gosh, you look pale, Mr. Sturgis!" She offered Pierre a cigarette. His hand trembled as he took one.

"Will you have Scotch or rye?" Argus asked.
"Scotch, please," Sturgis said. Argus went in search of Butch. When he returned he overheard Sturgis asking Ellen if she would pose for him at nine o'clock that evening. He had a rush job to do, he explained.

"Bring Mr. Steele along, too," he added. "It won't take very long." Butch brought in the drinks and set them down.
"Here, see if this is strong enough," Argus said. Sturgis took a sip and gagged slightly. He nodded his acquiescence.

"I made it strong, like you said, boss," Butch declared.
"Good, Butch. I thought you looked like you needed it, Mr. Sturgis," Argus said.

"I do," Pierre agreed. "I'm all done in." He stole a side glance at Bill Carstairs. "Can we talk?" he asked the detective.
"Sure," said Argus. "Nothing short of a bomb could wake Bill. Go ahead."

"I came here this afternoon, Mr. Steele, to see if I could retain you to solve Syria's death." He seemed to have difficulty speaking her name. "She was telling me about you Monday night on the way to dinner. Syria thought you were the greatest detective in the world. Well, frankly, I think a good man will be needed to find the scoundrel who took that poor girl's life. Of all the lovely girls who have been before my camera, she was the only one who ever affected me that way."

"It was Mr. Sturgis who did the color photo in that cigarette campaign for Syria," Ellen reminded Argus. "Those shots and a couple of magazine covers were really what led to her movie contract, even though Roger Flagg does take all the credit."

"Did you take any of those art photos that are being published in the papers?" Argus asked.

"Good Lord, no!" exploded Sturgis. "Syria never posed for me in the nude or semi-nude. I wouldn't let her do that sort of stuff. The papers must've dug those up from several years back. She didn't know any better then."

"Mr. Sturgis," said Argus, "when you were out with Syria on Monday night, did she happen to mention either Bill Carstairs or his father?" Sturgis hesitated. "No, not that I recall."

"But you knew that Syria was quite—er—friendly with Mr. Carstairs, Sr., didn't you?"

"I knew that he used her in his advertising campaigns, but—" He looked over at Bill.

"But you suspected that his son was the one who was personally interested in her, is that it?" Argus asked.

"Well, I—"

"When did you first suspect that there might be something between Bill here, and Syria?"
Sturgis looked unhappy. "Bill used to hang around the studio when Syria was working, and he'd send her flowers and presents. She told me once that he got on her nerves." The photographer paused. "Are you sure he's asleep? I mean maybe we shouldn't—"

Ellen went over to the couch and bent over Bill. He didn't stir. "He's knocked out of time—out definitely," she assured Sturgis. He looked relieved.

"Even if he could hear what you have to say," Argus said, "I would be interested in his reactions, one way or the other. But do go on."

"It was about a month ago that Syria broke off with me. She told me quite frankly that there was some one else. It was just about that time that Bill stopped hanging around so much and—" he shrugged—"I simply put two and two together."

Argus asked suddenly, "Where were you on Monday night between five and six?"

Sturgis showed surprise. "Why I—I went down to see my engravers around four. Their offices are at Twenty-ninth Street and Fourth Avenue—I don't know just what time I left. It was dark. I stopped at the barber's on the way uptown. I needed a haircut—But why do you ask?"

"Something's come up," said Argus, "that makes me curious about the actions of every one connected with the case at that particular time. When you left the barber's where did you go?"

"Syria," answered the photographer.
"Do you remember the name of the barber?"

"Why, no. I'd never been in the place before. It was around Madison Avenue and Forty-second."

"But you could find it again?" Argus persisted.

"Why—I suppose so," Sturgis looked disturbed. "I can't say, Mr. Steele, that I can see much bearing on—"

"I'll tell you," said Argus slowly. "I'd like to find Syria's murderer as much as you would. Actually, though, I'm out of the detective business officially. Furthermore, I want to do a little more investigating before I decide whether any one should retain me to help solve this crime. However, I'll let you know in a day or two if I decide to go into this thing professionally."

Again the doorknob rang.

"This time it must be Dorry," Ellen said. "I'll let her in."

Dorry still looked pale and wan. She had on a mink coat, but no hat.

"Dorry, this is Mr. Sturgis—Mrs. Carstairs," Ellen said.

"Mrs. Carstairs?" Pierre repeated questioningly.
"Yes," replied Argus. "They were married secretly a week ago. How are you, Dorry?"

"I'm all right, thank you," she said. She looked over at Bill. "How is he?"

"He's just fallen asleep," explained Ellen. "But he's all in one piece."

Dorry went over to her husband and pushed back a lock of dark hair from his forehead.
"He must be going," Sturgis said. "If you do come to any decision or hear any news, Mr. Steele, I wish you'd call me. Give me a ring in any case if I can be of some assistance." Argus helped him on with his coat and they walked to the entrance.

"Goodbye, Mr. Sturgis. Glad you dropped in," smiled Argus, extending his hand.

"Come up to the studio tonight," Sturgis repeated. "If you'd like, Oh, and Inspector Grange said something yesterday at the fashion show about Cynthia Lane having written you a letter—"

"Well," said Argus. "The police are looking into that letter detail." Sturgis waited as if he expected Argus to go on. When the detective didn't he said goodbye and left. Argus closed the door behind the photographer and rejoined Dorry and Ellen.

"Now," he said, "let's us three sit down quietly and have a nice little chat."

"Why don't you sit over here, Dorry?" Argus suggested, indicating a chair. "Ellen will make you a drink." Dorry moved away from Bill's side and sat down.

"May I take your coat?" Ellen asked.

"No, thanks. I just came to get Bill. I want to get him home. It was nice of you to call me, Ellen."

"How long has it been since you've seen this husband of yours?" Argus asked. "Did he come home last night?" Dorry shook her head. "I've unearthed some evidence that might not look so good for Bill, if it were turned over to the police," Argus produced the cancelled check signed by William Carstairs. Dorry's eyes widened at the signature.

"Have you ever seen this before?" he asked.

"No," said Dorry.

"Was your husband financing a drink?" Dorry asked him when she learned that he had married you?"

"That's not Bill's signature," Dorry said, evenly.

Ellen returned with two drinks and handed one to Dorry and one to Argus.

"Don't tell me it's a forgery," Argus remarked scathingly. "I'm trying to help you. If you prefer, I'll call the police, hand them the check and—"

"No," said Dorry. She plucked nervously at a button on her coat. "I'll tell you whatever you want to know." She looked at Ellen, who smiled at her reassuringly. "That check you just showed me was signed by Bill's father, not by Bill." She hung her head.

"Are you positive?"

"Yes."

"What's Bill doing with it, then?" Argus asked.

"I don't know."

"Come on, Dorry, I think it would be better if you told me," Argus pursued.

What It Means - - Victory in Marshalls

By NED NORDNESS

WASHINGTON—The smashingly successful method of attack used by the Navy in knocking the Japanese out of their best bases in the Marshalls means two things—both sad—for Tokyo.

1.—The Navy now has massed in Pacific a fleet of such striking power that it now can, for probably the first time since war began, mount offensives against key points of Japan's empire that before were considered months and years away.

2.—The Navy can adopt bold tactics that at times will approximate the blitz warfare common on land fronts.

Here are some figures that illustrate the amazing comeback of the Navy:

On Dec. 7, 1941, we had 344 warships, including 17 battle-ships and seven carriers. By Jan. 1, 1943, the number went up to 419, and by last November, this number had doubled.

Aircraft carrier power in the same period increased from seven to 56 known craft (including escort carriers).

Our naval forces now consist of 14,000 ships of all types, including auxiliaries, and 27,000 planes.

These vessels, of course, are divided into fleets serving in several theaters of action. It is generally known, however, that the Pacific floats our greatest armada. And the reported two million tons of fighting ships that ground the Marshall defenses into nothingness provides more proof than the enemy probably wants that the Pacific fleet is now ready to go.

The Navy's present offensive power being what it is, there is no longer a need to strike fast and then hide, as was the practice after Pearl Harbor.

At the start of the Solomon Islands offensive, for example, ships usually darted in at night with men and supplies. Warships usually engaged superior naval strength in running battles fought after dark. But now the Navy can stand around enemy bases, as it did in the Marshalls, and virtually challenge the Japanese fleet to come out and fight. The fact that the Japanese didn't at that time—but chose to wait until they could have all the advantages on their side—is perhaps the most significant thing about the Marshalls conquests.

Mrs. Charles Hall, a Recent Bride, Is Feted Saturday Eve At Miscellaneous Shower

Party Entertained at Purcell Home in Bloomingburg by Mrs. Robert W. Moyer, Miss Casette Larrimer; Hearts and Visiting Enjoyed

Miss Casette Larrimer and Mrs. Robert Moyer combined hospitalities when they entertained with a miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Moyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Purcell in Bloomingburg, honoring Mrs. Charles Hall (Marilyn McCoy) a bride of March seventh.

The engaging young guest of honor was wearing a smart navy blue wool frock, trimmed in red with gold buttons, while Miss Larrimer wore an attractive wine velvet frock. Mrs. Moyer was wearing a chic spring print jersey frock.

For the serving of a dainty desert course, the many guests were seated at small tables attractively placed about the living room, where a profusion of spring flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the attractive room.

As a centerpiece for each table the hostesses used a pretty bouquet of yellow freesia and pussywillows, in a small crystal holder, and a complete crystal table service was used for the serving of the tempting collation.

Upon completion of the serving, the hostesses invited the popular young bride to the dining room where a table, attractively decorated with green and white streamers, running from the chandelier to the table, was piled high with a nice assortment of shower gifts. The tradition of making a wish as each gift was opened evoked many a hilarious outburst by the guests and the guest of honor made sweet response for her many lovely gifts.

The remainder of the evening was spent in examining pictures taken at the McCoy-Hall wedding, an event of March seventh at the Country Club and playing of hearts.

Score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hall and Miss Helen Cramp-ton.

Invited guests were Miss Wilma Noble and Miss Mary Carolyn Rhoads, both of Ohio State University, Columbus, Miss Phyllis Chase, Miss Laura Schadel, Miss Barbara Baughn and Miss Grace Humphreys, all of this city and Miss Helen Crampton, Miss Mary E. Browning, Miss Donna Marilyn Purcell, Mrs. Leland Stevens, Mrs. Ed Klever, Mrs. Harry Elliott, Mrs. Walter E. McCoy, Mrs. Hazel Moyer, Mrs. Ray Larrimer, Mrs. Della Purcell and Mrs. Roy Purcell.

Potluck Supper Entertained by Mr., Mrs. Hays

When Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hays entertained the members of Mrs. Hays' Thursday evening bridge club, the member's husbands were guests of honor at a most bounteous and deliciously prepared covered-dish supper.

The guests were seated at the dining room table and other small tables in the dining room, and centering the larger table was a bowl of pastel-shaded sweetpeas. A most enjoyable and hilarious dinner hour was enjoyed, and the remainder of the evening was spent at the bridge tables.

Mrs. Thomas Christopher won high score for the evening and Mrs. Robert Dunton, second.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rost, Mr. and Mrs. John Forsythe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ensen, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunton, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Christopher, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Korn and the host and hostess.

Marjorie Swartz Entertains With Birthday Dinner Sunday for Her Mother

Miss Marjorie Swartz complimented her mother, Mrs. Esta Swartz, with a most enjoyable birthday dinner Sunday, and for the occasion several invited guests assembled to fete the guest of honor.

The attractively-appointed table was prettily centered with a large white birthday cake, and a green and white color theme was carried out in the decorations.

A most enjoyable afternoon of visiting with the hostess and guest of honor was enjoyed, during which the guests presented the honoree with a nice assortment of attractive gifts.

Those present with the hostess and guest of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Godfrey.

Gala Birthday Party Saturday Honors This Youngster

Nancy Elizabeth Nessell

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nessell entertained Saturday afternoon with a birthday party honoring their small daughter, Nancy Elizabeth on her third birthday, which was an event of Sunday, March 19.

Upon arrival, the guests were highly entertained throughout the pleasurable afternoon with games which were conducted by Miss Elizabeth Andrews and Marvina Arledge.

At the close of the games and contests, the youngsters were invited to the dining room where the vivacious young guest of honor opened her many lovely presents and prettily expressed her thanks.

The guests then assembled in the dining room where tempting refreshments were cleverly served. The table, which was centered with a large white birthday cake with three pink burning candles on it, was an attractive picture. The little miss blew out her candles as the guests made a wish for her.

Favors were presented to each little guest as they assembled in the dining room for the serving. Mothers assisting the hostess were Mrs. Wendell Boyer of Williamsport, Mrs. Floyd Arledge, Chillicothe, Mrs. Charles Compton, Mrs. Eugene Bach, Mrs. Wayne Boswell, Mrs. Abe Andrews and Mrs. Walter Finlay of this city.

Guests present for the birthday party were Doris Arledge, Chillicothe; Delores Foster, Bloomingburg; Patty Boyer, Williamsport; Patti Sowders, Edith Marie Bach, Wanda Lou and Wilma Jean Compton, Sandra Newton, Kent Finlay, Larry Bennett, Larry Mac Rife, Charles Edgington, Lenny Bach and David Boswell, all of this city.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Nessell entertained with a family dinner party for relatives.

Invited guests were Miss Nellie Nessell, Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Arledge, Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Weinrich Arledge, Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arledge and family of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Arledge,

Miss Olive Swope Is Hostess at a Potluck Supper

Miss Olive Swope graciously entertained sixteen members of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons of Forrest Chapter, No. 122 at her home in Bloomingburg, Sunday evening, the occasion being a business meeting and potluck supper.

Assisting hosts and hostesses for the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Creath and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Allemang.

The potluck supper was served at the dining room table, cafeteria style, and then the guests seated themselves at several small tables placed about the home. As a most striking centerpiece, the hostess had placed a watergarden of ivy, intertwined around three yellow cathedral candles, on a mirror arrangement. This centerpiece was used on a very lovely antique hand-drawn linen cloth.

Following the enjoyable dinner hour, the vice-president, Mrs. Harry Elliott, presided over a short business meeting.

New officers for the coming year which were elected at this meeting were Mrs. John Brown, president; Mrs. Harry Elliott, vice-president; Mrs. J. M. Allemang, secretary-treasurer.

One out-of-town member, Mrs. Ercel Stitt Hover of Mt. Clair, New Jersey, was present at this meeting.

placecards were suggestive of St. Patrick's Day, when the hostess served refreshments.

Following the enjoyable hour spent at the table, the remainder of the evening was spent in visiting with the new Mrs. Fern-eau, a bride of December.

Mrs. Donald Kempton Honored at Shower

When Mrs. Wendell Shaw and Miss Martha Weidinger entertained with a gala shower in honor of Mrs. Donald Kempton (Florence Weidinger) at the home of Mrs. Shaw near New Holland, a St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out in the appointments and decorations.

Many contests were enjoyed throughout the enjoyable evening with prizes going to Joan Junk, Betty Weidinger and Mrs. Francis Arnold. The guest of honor was then invited to the dining room where a large table was prettily covered with a lace cloth and the centerpiece was a large bouquet of white carnations. Here were arranged the many lovely and practical shower gifts and as she opened each one, the traditional wish was made by the bride for each guest. She graciously thanked each guest, also.

Refreshments were then served by the co-hostesses to thirty-five guests who had assembled for the occasion to fete the charming and engaging bride.

Sunday Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flee, 401 East Paint Street, entertained with a most enjoyable family dinner Sunday honoring their son, Robert L. Flee, of Cincinnati who will enter the armed forces soon.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Flee and daughter,

Family Dinner Honors Corporal

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick and daughter, Icy, entertained recently with a family dinner at their home in Mt. Sterling, in honor of their son, Cpl. Eugene E. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, before he left for Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Martins Ferry Heads Parade For Class A Cage Crown

By HAROLD HARRISON
COLUMBUS, March 20.—(P)—The final act of Ohio's 1944 high school basketball drama is ready to be staged and the cast couldn't be much more impressive if it had been hand-picked.
The program now calls for undefeated Martins Ferry, Canton, Lehigh, Middletown and Toledo Woodward to clash in Columbus Auditorium Saturday for the State Class A championship relinquished by Newark's Wildcats. At the same time, Philo, Akron Ellet, Lima St. John's and Worthington will do battle in the Ohio State University gymnasium for the Class B crown given up by Yorkville.
These eight teams won their way into the state finals last week-end in regional tournaments.
Heading the Class A parade is Martins Ferry which hasn't lost a game since it was beaten by Newark in the first round of last year's final tournament. The purple raiders have notched 26 consecutive triumphs this season and

NEW YORK, March 20.—(P)—When the suggestion was advanced last winter that something ought to be done to make emergency trading easier, the club owners just howled "no syndicate baseball" and let it go. But it looks as if those emergencies requiring quick action already were at hand. The Yankees, with Bill Dickey in the Navy and Rolie Hemsey on the farm, had to scurry around for catchers and came up with Joe Glenn, also Navy bound, Mike Garbarik and engineer Bob Collins, whose train to camp was somewhat late. The Dodgers, with inadequate replacements for Mickey Owen, who will make frequent trips to his farm, expect to put scout Clyde Sukeforth into action behind the plate. But the Giants can call on an even dozen receivers. Looks like something must be out of balance.

Rush Brown, a Sioux Falls, S. D., fisherman, claims this stunt really works if you're interested only in catching large fish. Rush secured a large mounted pickerel, weighed it and attached a stout card; then he headed for a spot where he knew the big ones hung out. On arrival, Brown lowered the stuffed fish some eight feet under the boat and all the little ones, fearful of being gobbled up, left those parts and didn't return. Rush claims he didn't hook a small fish all day but did catch several pickerels about the size of the decoy.

Bowling Champs Can't Make Grade

COLUMBUS, March 20.—(P)—There will be an entire new set of women's bowling champions in Ohio this year.
The Detroit-Bunts recreation of Cleveland, class A team champions for the last two years, didn't even come close to the leaders in their appearance in the 1944 state tournament Saturday night and yesterday Marge Slogar, the ace of the team, failed to make a successful defense of either her singles, doubles or all-events championships.
The team rolled only 2395 and Miss Slogar had a nine-game total of only 1547. She rolled 483 in the singles and she and her partner, Agnes Clucker, collected a weak 986 in the doubles.

USTA Moves To Stamp Out Doping—'Little Brown Jug' Is Name Chosen For Three-year-old Pace at Delaware

By BOB KENEFICK
That the United States Trotting Association, governing body of the harness horse sport in this country and Canada, intends to stamp out the doping of horses was evident when a new rule was inserted into the bylaws at the annual meeting at Indianapolis.
The punishment is indeed stiff for the guilty party can be suspended for life and a fine not to exceed $5,000 can be levied by the chief executive of the U. S. T. A.
This is the first rule against doping that has teeth in it and the heavy fine and the suspension for life will cause horsemen who have been accustomed to putting something under the tongues of trotters and pacers to think twice before taking the risk.
The annual meeting of the governing body held at the Hotel Severin ran off smoothly with G. W. Rittmeyer of Piquette, O., being re-elected president for the ensuing year, and Mrs. Don A. Detrick, Bellefonte, O., was chosen one of the three executive secretaries.
The USTA also voted that all sponsors of meetings must keep the moneys from entry fees in early closing events segregated from other receipts. This is to insure horsemen of getting their money back in case anything goes haywire with the meeting.
A committee of three was named (Joe Neville of Delaware, O.; Leo C. McNamara, of Indianapolis, and Eugene C. Moriarity, of Wichita, Kans.) to study the idea of having the horses leave on their mile trip from a standing start.
The North Randall meeting, near Cleveland, will be eighteen days instead of nineteen as originally planned with the opening day of racing on Monday, June 26. Steve Phillips of Erie, Pa., has been engaged as starter. The program is one of the best ever arranged at Cleveland. A group of Cleveland sportsmen known as the Randall Park Racing Association with offices at 1740 East 12th Street is behind the venture. Charley Seltzer has been named publicity representative of the new body. One of the first things that the new organization has done is to have a cookhouse for the caretakers and help on the backstretch with good food to be served. This is welcome news to all horsemen who have been having difficulties feeding the help at many tracks.
The track which will be whipped into shape in May will be available for harness horses on June 7 and it is the plan of many training in the South to ship to Cleveland to be ready for the Grand Circuit opening on June 26. The form of the horses will be printed on the program which will be an asset to those who patronize mutual windows. Ed Keller, the live-wire general manager at Old Orchard, Hamburg, N. Y., and Lexington, Ky., has helped the Cleveland outfit in the making out of their initial program.

SIX TEAMS TO MAKE UP OHIO LOOP

COLUMBUS, March 20.—(P)—A decision to operate the class D Ohio State baseball league as a six-team circuit was reaffirmed Sunday although Marion was not represented at a meeting called to approve the loop's 130-game schedule.
Joe Donnelly, league president, and Ray Ryan of Hillsboro, former president of the Mountain State, Appalachian and Virginia State leagues, were to be in Marion today to investigate the possibility of Ryan operating the club.
Marion and Newark had been listed as doubtful starters in the league, partly because of a lack of major league affiliations. But representatives of the Newark team announced yesterday they were ready to go without a major league hook-up if necessary. Other teams in the league will be Middletown, Zanesville, Springfield and Lima.
Donnelly expressed confidence Marion also would go along and said he believed player talent could be obtained from Atlanta of the southern association for Marion and from the Detroit Tigers for Newark.
The schedule, to open May 2 and close Labor Day, was given tentative approval.

Grand American To Be Only Token

VANDALIA, March 20.—(P)—The Grand American Trapshoot, which has been conducted continuously since 1900, will be held here again this year, but wartime ammunition and transportation difficulties will make it only a "token" affair.
Ralph M. Jenkins of Orleans, Ind., president of the American Trapshooting Association, announced Saturday the event would run only one, two or three days, depending on the amount of ammunition the participants are able to bring.

Rookie Is Bidding For Mesner's Job

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 20.—(P)—Competition reared its head in the Cincinnati Reds' quarters today.
Chief competitor is Robert "Buck" Faustett, a 36-year-old rookie who has been knocking around in the minors for a dozen years. Faustett has been going after Steve Mesner's third base job with vigor and earnestness. Mesner, the club's only holdout, may find a job on his hands if (and when) he returns to the fold.

ADMIRALTY ISLANDS CONQUERED BY ALLIES; JAPS IN DEATH TRAP

without interception, Allied planes have ripped and torn the Wewak.
On the opposite end of Japan's Pacific defense line, Paramushiro in the northern Kurile Islands was bombed for the third consecutive day. Other Pacific planes pounded Ponape and Kusaie in the eastern Caroline Islands and three undesignated atolls in the eastern Marshalls.
A major battle apparently is shaping up in the Chindwin front in Burma. Large Japanese forces have crossed the Chindwin River, a southeast Asia communique reported, and are driving on Imphal which guards an approach to the Indian border.
But in the north central sector south of Myitkyina, glider-borne Allied troops have expanded their holdings around their two airfields in heavy fighting.
Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese and American soldiers in the north have cleaned out Hukawng valley and are striking at a pass leading into important Mogawng valley.

Hoof Dust—Joe Neville's big stake which will correspond to the Hambletonian in 1946 at Delaware has been called the 'Little Brown Jug' pace for three-year-olds.

The name was submitted by Major Lanning Parsons of Mt. Vernon, O., a former horse owner and as a result he wins $100. Little Brown Jug was selected by the committee of L. G. Duffy, Bob Terry, Judge G. W. Rittmeyer, Art Hinrichs and Bob Kenefick in a close vote over the names of Pioneer and Pacemaker. Big Joe tossed a party for U.S.T.A. executives, breeders, trainers and some others at Indianapolis and it was one of Joe's usual good affairs. E. Roland Harriman and Bob Jewell were toastmasters. That the Little Brown Jug will go over with a bang seems a certainty. The Fox Stake which will be raced at Greenville, O., in August, is now worth $9,987.92 with the June 1 payment of $100 and the starting payment of $100 due the day before the race also to come. J., and they will be raced as follows: Sept. 12, 2-year-old trot; Sept. 13, 3-year-old pace; Sept. 14, 2-year-old pace and 3-year-old trot. The free-for-all trot at DuQuoin, Ill., has the following stars entered: Volo Song, Worthy General, Cannon Ball, Speed King, Mary M., Captain January, Earl's Moody Guy, May McElwyn, Guy Barnes, Milestone, Darnley and Scotland's Comet. The free-for-all pace has in it: King's Counsel, Direct Radium, Carty Nagle, William Cash, Mighty Sweet and Adios. That's another good race for DuQuoin.

Center Field Job May Go to Seerey

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 20.—(P)—Pat Seerey's reward for reporting to the Cleveland Indians' training camp 25 pounds lighter than last season is the inside track on the center field job.
The center garden was one of the Tribe's weak spots last year. Oris Hockett has been handling the assignment for the past two years against his wishes and if Seerey can make the most of his opportunity, Hockett will be free to contest for one of the other two fly-chasing chores.

Capt. John Guenther of Columbus, General Beightler's aide, said in the battle for Hill 700 "a whole Jap regiment came in on a 50-yard front against one platoon. That's the size of a front normally used for attack by a platoon."
"Three hundred and forty-nine Japanese actually got through the barbed wire and were killed this side of the entanglement. The rest were lined up for a mile down a draw, obviously planning to force their way through. Our guns just mowed them down, much worse than they mowed our men down at Tarawa. We figured a thousand Japs were killed on the ridge (Cannon Ridge) by our artillery fire down into the draw."

Capt. Robert S. Johnson, Lawton, Okla., leading ace of the European theater who has shot down 22, led one fighter flight but reported he didn't see one enemy plane.
The British kept the stream of two-way attacks going last night. From Italy night-flying RAF bombers hit the German-held shipbuilding base at Monfalcone, northwest of the Italia Adriatic port of Trieste, while from Britain Mosquitos blasted objectives in central and western Germany without loss.
These raids followed five strong punches landed on Germany and occupied territory Saturday and Sunday by American and British heavy bombers, swinging in from both Italy and Britain.
Available figures indicated possibly 300 German fighters were cut from Hitler's waning air strength in the weekend at attacks.
A total of 479 enemy aircraft had been shot down or destroyed during the week beginning last Monday in Allied operations from Britain and Italy.
This total included 303 German fighters destroyed in raids into Austria yesterday and two more destroyed by Mediterranean air forces elsewhere.
In two days 246 German aircraft had been destroyed in the Mediterranean theater, including many caught on the ground in Saturday raids on five Italian airfields.
American Marauders attacked the Creil rail center north of Paris and other objectives in France early this morning with a Thunderbolt escort, it was learned authoritatively.
The Saturday and Sunday raids embraced American heavy bomber attacks against objectives in Southern Germany, France, Austria, Yugoslavia and northern Italy and a multi-pronged 1,000-bomber RAF operation Saturday night.
The London Daily Mail said meanwhile American four-enginabout as vicious as anything that has ever happened. The Japs were suicidal, determined, completely desperate. They had everything to gain, nothing to lose, since death to them is meaningless.

"My division in defending a nine-mile front in the jungle was performing a task three times the size it was intended to do. On Cannon Ridge the men, mostly from Cleveland and Akron, decimated two Japanese battalions and to my left my Illinois unit inflicted 20 losses to one of theirs. I am proud to say that not one neurosis case was reported in the division. This shows a high state of morale."
Japanese efforts to break American perimeter lines on Bougainville produced some of the toughest fighting of the Colomons campaign but "our losses in comparison with the Japs' are fantastically light," Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commanding the Army in the South Pacific, said.
Even generals have taken a hand in the fighting. Once General Beightler led the front line counterattack, personally expending forty rounds with a carbine.
"I've been trying to get a Jap sword since the Munda campaign," He confided. "Suddenly I spotted one. I made a dive for it but a private beat me by inches."
The Japanese persist in making mass drives against small sections of lines, piling themselves up in front of American wires in a useless demonstration of fanatical fighting.
(This was the first indication fighting still is in progress here. The big enemy push started March 8 and Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported in his March 18 communique: "The enemy's offensive has completely broken down," and "his formations have been dispersed and decimated.")
Lt. Glenwood Broyles of Fortoria, said after one action "it's senseless the way they'll do it. They never have a chance but they keep coming."
Dennis Warner, an Australian correspondent who fought almost four years in Africa and the Middle East, said "I've never seen anything to compare with this. Nowhere have I ever heard of 75 guns fired point blank at

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—Stocks generally slipped a cog in today's market after a little early specialized buying failed to follow through in most cases.
Investment purchases, based on earnings and individual situations, propped assorted favorites. Profit taking, however, appeared after the opening and customers who had got aboard last week and felt the average to peak for one to seven years either stood aside or lightened commitments with the idea a technical reaction was due.

Spring UsHERED in With Heavy Sleet and Snow

MANY SCHOOLS CLOSED MONDAY BY ICY ROADS

Sunday One of Worst Days In Community During Entire Winter

Don't look now, but spring is here—so they say!

Spring arrived Monday amid one of the worst sleet and snow storms of the season. In fact the sleet storm broke local records for being one of the longest sustained falls of sleet ever occurring here.

As result of the storm, which started Saturday night and was continuing Monday, highways were glazed with ice. It was necessary to salt ever foot of the 150 miles of main state and federal roads in the county, and then keep shovels busy scraping them throughout Sunday night and Monday.

Schools at Jeffersonville, South Solon, Staunton, Yatesville and Marion were closed. Attendance was short at some of the other schools in the community, due to dangerous condition of the county and township roads.

Starting late Saturday night the fall of sleet continued almost without intermission until well into Sunday night, but the temperature was sufficiently low to prevent the sleet sticking to trees and telephone wires. It was accompanied by a biting wind.

The sleet piled up several inches thick in many places, and the light snow that came upon the sleet, starting Sunday night, was being augmented by additional snowfall Monday.

Many accidents occurred within the county, as cars and trucks took the roadside ditches, and traffic was reduced to the lowest ebb of the winter. The sleet froze on windshields, and those without defrosters were forced to open windows and drive by looking out the windows.

The day was so thoroughly disagreeable that countless numbers of citizens did not venture from their homes during Sunday.

Starting Sunday morning with every available man scattering salt, the State Highway Department kept crews busy all day and throughout the night and Monday. Snow plows were placed in operation Sunday night and Monday to keep highways as free of snow and ice as much as possible.

Sidewalks generally were neglected in the city, due to the accumulation of ice and snow that made it almost impossible to free them of the layer of ice.

In Ohio generally, spring came over snow and sleet covered countryside, leaving citizens shivering in the biting wind of a cold wave caused two deaths in the state.

The vernal equinox, long pictured as a sweet and gauzy clad young thing, arrived officially at 12:49 P. M., but the weather man failed to cooperate. He kept the mercury in the low 20's and promised more cold weather tonight.

The temperature began to fall Sunday as rain turned to sleet and snow and sheathed roads throughout the state in a coating of ice.

It snowed in northern Ohio, snow and sleet fell in the central part of the state and rain turned to ice in the southern sections of Ohio.

The state highway patrol and police departments warned motorists to drive only if necessary. Though cinderling crews worked through the night, icy highways caused one death and scores of minor accidents.

George A. Storck, 70, former Lorain service director, was killed Sunday when his automobile skidded on a snow-covered highway south of Oberlin and crashed into a utility pole.

The body of Charles Walsh, 55, of Akron, was found on a street in the downtown section of Columbus and Coroner Edward E. Smith said death was caused by exposure.

Passengers were struck by a shower of glass when a trolley bus skidded into a utility pole in Columbus. One passenger was treated for cuts at a hospital.

Throughout the nation Old Man Winter claimed at least seven lives as the old fellow's swan song echoed with fury from New England—where snow fell at the rate of an inch an hour—to the deep south where a biting north wind buffeted the Texas panhandle.

March 28—Jasper No. 2—at Robert Cannon.

RED CROSS WORKERS TO MEET MONDAY

Chairman Leland Expects Half Quota Reached

A prediction that the Red Cross workers meeting Monday night will show about half the $28,500 quota already reached was made today by John Leland, campaign manager.

The meeting, to be held at 8 P. M. in the Common Pleas court room, is the first report meeting since the campaign began March 12. Leland urged each worker to come to the meeting if he possibly could, although he recognized road conditions might prevent some township workers from making the trip to Washington C. H.

WATCH FOR WORTHLESS CHECKS IN COMMUNITY

Sheriff W. H. Icenhower is asking business men generally to be on the lookout for bad checks such as have been passed in Highland and Adams County, recently, made payable to John Lawson, former resident of this city, and purporting to be signed by Elizabeth Simmons.

Lawson moved from this city sometime ago, and has been located in the Peebles Community.

The bad checks made payable to him are for small amounts.

BAPTISTS HERE TO MARK WORLD PARISH SERVICE

All-day Program To Be Held At First Church Wednesday

A World Parish Day Program, one of a series throughout the Northern Baptist Convention from coast to coast, will be observed at the First Baptist Church here Wednesday, Rev. Harold B. Twining, pastor of the church here, said today.

The afternoon session will begin at 2:30 P. M. and the evening program at 7:30 P. M. A covered dish supper will be served in the church home at 6 P. M., Rev. Twining said.

The purpose of the program is to bring the National Meeting of the Northern Baptist Convention in miniature form to every local church in the convention area, Rev. Twining explained.

Rev. F. W. McDermott of Grandville, state director of town and country work, will be the featured speaker at both sessions. Recorded messages from the president of the convention, missionary and denominational leaders are also scheduled. Other features will be a poll of opinion, discussions, a service of recognition and prayer for servicemen and a display of posters and materials arranged by a special committee, Rev. Twining said.

The program is open to anyone who desires to attend, Rev. Twining concluded.

NEW FB COUNCIL IS FORMED IN UNION

Mrs. Walter Thompson Heads Third Township Group

Mrs. Walter Thompson is today chairman of the third Union Township Farm Bureau Council. Mrs. Loren Reif is secretary-treasurer and John Weade is discussion leader.

Warren Huchison, a co-op representative, was discussion leader at the organization meeting when ten members were placed on the roll call of the council. Huchison discussed the different types of Farm Bureau Life Insurance and Hospital Insurance. He expressed the hope that each family would take advantage of "the many opportunities offered in these policies."

He also introduced the topic, "Can the savings of cooperatives be called profits?" It was pointed out that the profits were actually savings distributed on a patronage basis and not profit returns on capital investment and as such are not subject to taxation.

The newly-organized council goes on record as being opposed to the changing from "slow" to "fast" time. It was also pointed out a premium price should be paid for clean eggs.

The next meeting of the council is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clickner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson were hosts at the organization meeting.

TIME CHANGE IS UNCERTAIN IN THIS CITY

Definite Action Expected at Council Meeting This Week

There is still much uncertainty regarding the proposed change of time in Washington C. H. to Eastern War Time.

City council is scheduled to take up the matter for definite action Wednesday night.

The county commissioners met Monday, but stated that no action would be taken during the day regarding the Court House clock.

In the city many enterprises, including most of the war production plants, have been observing fast time throughout the winter in order to be in step with other organizations elsewhere which also have been operating on Eastern War Time.

Both commissioners and council received two or three communications protesting the time change from the same organizations, but so far no communications in favor of the change have been received by either group, it is understood.

City Manager Walter L. Stambaugh, who first said that indications pointed to a change of time Wednesday night, has since heard more opposition to the proposal. He said Monday more who had expressed themselves seemed against the proposed change than for it.

In the meantime, practically all surrounding cities, large and small, go on fast time around April 1st, as they did last year, when this city was one of the last of the group to fall into line so that there would be no break in the time with other communities.

Granges of the county, according to Deputy Master Loren Hynes, are opposed to the time change, and Hynes sets forth the opposition in the following communications to both council and the County Commissioners:

"Gentlemen:

"The Granges of Fayette County, representing approximately 1,000 members in Rural Fayette County, and who, we believe, also speak the convictions and sentiments of 9,000 other farmers in this county, wishes to state that they are unalterably opposed to the proposal to adopt Daylight Saving Time.

"We do not believe it is necessary to enumerate the various reasons for this stand but will simply state that when a farmer works almost twice as many hours in a day as a city worker, he does not take kindly to any proposal which will work a real hardship on him simply to convenience the store and factory workers.

"We know that they will point out the advantages of getting out in the middle of the afternoon so that they can work their Victory gardens.

"We grant that is fine, and we would also like to call their attention to the fact that during the growing season there are at least 14 hours of daylight per day and the average store hours are from 8 to 5 which leaves 5 hours of daylight for other activities.

"We do not believe that any action is justifiable which will work a hardship on many for the convenience of a comparatively few.

"Sincerely yours, "Loren Hynes."

BUDDY CARR TAPS WAY INTO SCHOOL

Enrolled in Johnny Murphy Studio in Columbus

Buddy Carr, tap dancing son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Badgley, 725 Broadway, who recently completed a term at the Harper School of Dancing in Dayton, is now enrolled at the Johnny Murphy Studios, in Columbus, for advanced study.

Bud, a junior in high school here, has been dancing since he was five years old. He was a member of the dancing trio, "The Three Aces," together with Jack Harper and Johnny Godfrey. The three danced their way into public notice on stages of several Ohio theaters during the season 1939-40.

All three boys received training for this work here at the Emerson Ludwick School of Dancing, which was closed for the duration when Ludwick entered the armed services. Lt. Ludwick is now serving overseas with the army.

Bud has also studied with teachers in Nashville, Tenn. and Cincinnati and will appear in the Lion's Club Variety Show, April 17 for the benefit of the recently established canteen.
